

Below is the formal job description for a Senior/Planning Consultant.

(Salary dependent on experience and in line with the local market rate)

We're looking for an energetic and confident planner with a genuine interest in progressing their career through to RTPI Chartership with long-term ambitions to grow and expand their skills and responsibility within the company, this role would ideally suit a planner who is looking to develop themselves into a Senior Planner role, or a Senior Planner who wants to work in an exciting and forward-looking team.

Enzygo provides excellent opportunities for staff, with training opportunities including a mentoring scheme for chartership through the L-APC process with excellent first-time success rates to enable staff to develop quickly with over 25% of the staff having worked for the company for longer than 10 years.

The Enzygo Planning Team currently consists of 10 planners, of which 7 are chartered based across the Bristol, Sheffield and Manchester Offices and we continue to grow.

We're a supportive friendly team with a mix of levels, ages, genders. Enzygo are active in multiple sectors, focused in Net Zero infrastructure (an active and growing sector as we advance towards the legally binding 2050 target) – including renewable energy development (solar, wind, battery energy storage), nuclear, hydrogen, carbon capture and storage, EV charging, advanced waste management facilities (waste to energy & waste to fuels), plus a range of work in the residential, leisure and government sectors.

Enzygo's client base continues to grow and diversify with a strong pipeline of projects coming forward. Employees at Enzygo have multiple opportunities to learn from experienced colleagues and take on projects of their own including extensive opportunities to work with internal technical teams to deliver multi-disciplinary projects – having autonomy and ownership over their own projects with strong support from senior team members so that staff can develop in a structured environment at their own pace.

This sets Enzygo apart from larger consultancies, where employees can often feel bogged down in a role as a report writer with a lack of autonomy to take on management of their own projects and clients. Enzygo provides genuine career progression opportunities.

The candidate should ideally live in or around Bristol and will be keen to attend networking events and get involved in the planning and development scene in Bristol. The Bristol Central office is in its infancy – so there is a genuine opportunity for a planner to join the team at the start of the curve but with support from a well-established nationwide planning team and be central to the Bristol office growth and so grow their own career and standing in the south-west.

- Office address: Origin Workspace, 40 Berkeley Square, Bristol, BS8 1HP and is a vibrant space with state-of-the-art facilities.
- Preferred work pattern is Hybrid working 4 days in the office and 1-day WFH.

As part of the early interview process, we'd be keen to invite candidates to the office to show them around and have an informal first chat with them.

Your role includes:

As a Senior/Planning Consultant you will be a key individual in the Planning team working closely with the wider multi-disciplinary team in addition to managing your own planning projects and speaking with clients. This role would ideally be for an individual who relishes a challenge and enjoys working in a supportive team to deliver successful outcomes for all of our clients.

Your brief will include:

- The preparation and co-ordination of Planning applications and supporting documents
- Attending client meetings and site visits across the UK
- Preparation of Planning site appraisals, planning policy research, feasibility reviews
- Preparation and submission of planning representations for site identification within Local Development Plans
- Preparation of discharge of Planning Condition submissions
- Engaging with Local Planning Authorities, stakeholders and public consultation events
- Input into the preparation of Environmental Statements (EIA)

You should ideally have:

- Experience of working in this type of role preferably within planning consultancy – at least 2 to 3 years
- Experience of writing up planning statements and project management
- Good communication and team work skills
- Be working towards becoming a member of MRTPI, if not already a member

Additional Requirements:

- The candidate should have a full UK Driving Licence
- Eligibility to work and reside in the UK
